Worksweatshirt made from a three-layer fabric: the polyester component ensures rigidity and shape retention, while the rayon component preserves its softness. In addition, advanced spinning technology is used to make the fabric lightweight without compromising its structural integrity. The zip-up collar offers greater operational safety and a clean finish, as well as extra protection for the front of the neck. This protection is enhanced by the high windproof collar. Reflective inserts on the sleeves increase the operator's visibility, improving safety during work activities. The pockets make the garment practical and functional.

The product has been designed and manufactured to comply with Regulation (EU) 2016/425 as amended.
